Providing a big help with The Big Number

A handy guide to the UK number changes

00 International codes

The access code for international voice calls isn't changing as part of The Big Number. So, if you're calling abroad from the UK, you simply dial the same international code (starting 00) as you do now. However, the international access code for ISDN data calls will be changing from 000 to 00 on 22 April 2000.

01 Existing area codes

Most area codes that begin 01 will be staying the same. However, if you need to call anyone in one of the six places where area codes and local numbers are changing, you should dial the new numbers after changeover day on 22 April 2000.

02 New area codes and local numbers for six places

There are six places where area codes and local numbers are changing. They are shown below. Whether or not you live in the places where codes are changing, it's likely you make calls to people who do, so you'll need to alter your address book and numbers pre-programmed in your phone.

CITY	EXISTING AREA CODE	EXISTING LOCAL NUMBER		NEW AREA CODE	NEW LOCAL NUMBER
CARDIFF	(01222)	XXXXXX	➤	(029)	20XX XXXX

BELFAST	(01232)	XXXXXX	➤	(028)	90XX XXXX

The new national numbers

If you live in one of the places shown above you will have a new national number which you can use from now. For example, if you live in inner London, your new national number, will be as follows:

EXISTING NATIONAL NUMBER		NEW NATIONAL NUMBER
